Two courses for twice the challenge

The hotel features two high quality golf courses, each with its own distinctive challenges. The Priory Course, created in 1977, winds through the undulating parkland that surrounds the hotel and requires a degree of accuracy as you play down gorgeous tree-lined fairways. Set on the adjacent hillside the Moorland Course poses its own contrasting challenges as it zigzags through the heart of the spectacular countryside. It also offers year round play on permanent greens. With a range of practice facilities including personal tuition and a driving range, Breadsall Priory is a great destination for honing those golfing skills.

Follow in the footsteps of a master

Host to numerous championship events, Marriott Dalmahoy is firmly established in the world of golf offering two excellent and contrasting courses. Both were created by the legendary course designer James Braid and test every element of the game. Following a £1 million remodelling by European Golf Design, the championship East Course now offers an exhilarating challenge of more than 7,475 yards. But that needn't deter the high handicapper – with open, forgiving fairways it still offers the chance of a competitive score. The shorter West Course poses some very different challenges: tighter fairways and smaller greens call for a more accurate game. And the final hole across the Gogar Burn offers a spectacular end to a memorable round.

WATERBEACH BEAUTY SALON

Set in spectacular 12,000 acre grounds, just below the rolling South Downs, the championship Goodwood Park Course offers excellent golfing in refined surroundings. The ancestral home to the Dukes of Richmond, the hotel now offers entertainment of a more sporting kind: long, rolling fairways, undulating greens, strategically placed bunkers and holes that get progressively harder as you approach the turn. Off the course, Marriott Goodwood Park Hotel & Country Club is renowned for its friendly, welcoming atmosphere and extensive facilities. Taste the good life in the award-winning Richmond Room Restaurant or pick-up a light bite in the Goodwood Sports Café Bar. And for those less inclined to play golf there’s always our luxurious Escapes!™ Pamper package to while away a relaxing day: enjoy a health or beauty treatment in the Waterbeach Spa, workout in the gym or chill-out in the sauna. Everything’s on-hand to help you feel your very best.

The 18th hole

A strong par 5 to finish with, the golfers first priority is to avoid the strategically placed fairway bunker in order to be able to position their second shot on the left side of the fairway. This will allow a good view of the green for the third shot. However, be aware of the two bunkers and the water hazard that surrounds the green. An entertaining finish to a great course.

Host to 15 Professional tournaments

The two courses at Marriott St Pierre pose contrasting challenges. On the one hand is the memorable Old Course which builds to a climax and finishes with two truly classic holes: the 17th green positioned almost on an island and the elevated green on the 18th provide an exhilarating, challenging end to any round. The shorter, Bill Cox designed, Mathern Course provides its own unique challenges. Set in the heart of the tranquil countryside it's ideal for a refreshing morning start or a quick early evening round. To complement these two stunning courses the hotel offers a full range of modern facilities including a 13 bay floodlit driving range with a video analysis room, putting and chipping greens and a short game practice area.

Follow in the footsteps of champions

Designed by the renowned architect Donald Steel, the Tudor Park Course is a skillfully crafted layout. Every hole displays its own individual personality – sometimes friendly, sometimes a little more problematic. Make sure you look out for the deceptive 7th hole. Technically considered the easiest, you'll still need pinpoint accuracy to avoid the steep drop off on three sides of the green. Hone your game by heading to Tudor Park's practice range, putting green or chipping green or make an appointment with our resident PGA Professional and iron out your swing problems with a video swing analysis.

LONG WEEKEND CAFE BAR

Nestling deep in the Garden of England, the Marriott Tudor Park Hotel & Country Club is a tranquil base for an invigorating golfing break. The championship course is set in over 220 acres of rolling parkland and makes use of every available natural feature: long, narrow fairways are bordered by beautiful, mature pine trees and undulating greens offer fantastic views across the woodland to the countryside beyond. A regular host to the Europro Tour, Tudor Park also offers a range of practice facilities. And the hotel itself provides more than enough to keep even non-golfers occupied. There's fine wine and inspiring dining in the award-winning Fairviews Restaurant as well as exceptional health facilities including tennis and aerobics, swimming pool and fully equipped gym. So while the golfers do their thing, other visitors can enjoy the sublime pleasures of an Escapes!™ Pamper package – slide into a soothing spa bath or enjoy a sensuous beauty treatment.

The 14th hole

The 14th hole certainly has the potential to ruin a good score looking deceptively narrow from the tee. The tee shot requires pin point accuracy with mature trees looming either side ready to capture a wayward tee shot.

19. ACCESS

Marriott Hotels Limited and its affiliates are striving to exceed customers expectations – whether they are able bodied or have disabilities. We have invested in changes to the physical environment at our sites, where reasonable, however we have a limited number of properties, particularly older buildings (some of which are Listed buildings or have other constraints) where this is an ongoing challenge. We are working with the relevant authorities to resolve such issues as soon as possible for us to do so. We recognise that it is not merely physical barriers that can cause difficulties for our customers. Our associates receive disability awareness sessions as part of their basic training, to understand the challenges customers may face and so they can ensure their needs are met. We hope that if you are a guest with a disability you will recognise that we are committed to assisting you as much as possible. However, if you have any queries or wish to highlight any aspect of our services that are not meeting your needs, please contact our customer service department at the address below. For property specific information please contact the hotel of your choice.
