Follow in the footsteps of a master

Both were created by the legendary course designer James Braid and test every element of the game. But that needn't deter the high handicapper – with open, forgiving fairways it still offers the chance of a competitive score. And the final hole across the Gogar Burn offers a spectacular end to a memorable round.

Nestling deep in the Garden of England, the Marriott Tudor Park Hotel & Country Club is a tranquil base for an invigorating golfing break. The championship course is set in over 220 acres of rolling parkland and makes use of every available natural feature: long, narrow fairways are bordered by beautiful, mature pine trees and undulating greens offer fantastic views across the woodland to the countryside beyond. A regular host to the EuroPro Tour, Tudor Park also offers a range of practice facilities. And the hotel itself provides more than enough to keep even non-golfers occupied. There's fine wine and inspiring dining in the award-winning Fairviews Restaurant as well as exceptional health facilities including tennis and aerobics, swimming pool and fully-equipped gym. So while the golfers do their thing, other visitors can enjoy the sublime pleasures of an Escape!™ Pamper package – slide into a soothing spa bath or enjoy a sensuous beauty treatment. For the perfect break, combine your stay with our tailor-made Escape! Golf package, which provides you with everything you need to hone your game and hit the fairway.

Follow in the footsteps of champions

Designed by the renowned architect Donald Steel, the Tudor Park Course is a skillfully crafted layout. Every hole displays its own individual personality – sometimes friendly, sometimes a little more problematic. Make sure you look out for the deceptive 7th hole. Technically considered the easiest, you'll still need pinpoint accuracy to avoid the steep drop off on three sides of the green. Hone your game by heading to Tudor Park's practice range, putting green or chipping green or make an appointment with our resident PGA Professional and iron out your swing problems with a video swing analysis.
