Discover Fort Benjamin Harrison State Park in Indiana

Visit the Fort Harrison State Park to see the historic buildings, golf resort, and hiking and horse trails. Originally built as a U.S. Army post in 1903, Fort Benjamin Harrison served as a stable fortress through World War I and World War II. Over the years, the fort saw many changes and just prior to closing, served as the home of the Defense Information School.

Fort Harrison State Park features the second largest Department of Defense facility in the U.S., and to this day has a strong military presence. Several Army Reserve, Indiana National Guard, Post Exchange, and Commissary units are still present at this 1,700-acre state park.

When visiting Fort Harrison State Park, you can enjoy:

- Nature center
- Picnicking
- Bicycling
