Opened for play in 1999, the Championship standard Hollins Hall course layout was designed by Ross McMurray of European Golf Design. It is best described as a beguiling blend of two contrasting nines, and has USGA specification summer greens that are open all year around.

The first half is built on a high piece of land, which is open and exposed to the elements and enjoys glorious views over the Aire Valley towards the Yorkshire Dales. It starts with a gentle par 4 but it can be a severe test in windy conditions ending with the memorable downhill par 4 on the 9th.

The back nine is set in the picturesque valley and also has a number of standout holes, such as the par 4 14th where the undulating greens stand in the shadow of an enormous Victorian railway viaduct.
