You can enter the Kremlin right from the Red Square through the beautiful Troitskie or Borovitskie gateways. A gorgeous historical complex will open to you its famous cathedrals, palaces, museums and other edifices, which combine to reflect the glory and splendour of Russia through the ages.

⑤ Tverskaya Street

en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tverskaya\_Street

On the opposite side of the Red Square you will see the most famous street of the city, Tverskaya street. Hundreds of boutiques and shops, cafes and restaurants, bars and night clubs, business centers and luxury living apartments are located on one of the longest central streets of Moscow. You can go up the street and explore the heart of the city life, enjoy your lunch or dinner in any of the beautiful restaurants, located in this area, or walk further by the Mokhovaia street, right to the famous Bolshoi Theatre.

⑥ The Bolshoi Theatre

4/2, Bolshaia Dmitrovka Street, Moscow
