

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO

EXPERIENCE THE TRUE HEART OF CALIFORNIA

From the moment the Spanish missionaries sailed up the California coast and set foot on Orange County's soil, it forever changed the landscape and future of the area. The Mission San Juan Capistrano was created as a spiritual center.

Its role evolved over time, but throughout the generations, one constant remained: the Mission was always a center of hospitality. For the weary visitors who sailed from overseas to the horseback riders on the King's Highway to the many San Juan Capistrano communities, there was always bread to eat and a place to rest a weary head. This spirit of hospitality is embodied in the story of our hotel. We offer new experiences for guests looking to discover the rich history and heart of California, while creating a place for rest and renewal that has been true to our location for ages.

We are Inn at the Mission San Juan Capistrano.

RICH MOMENTS BEYOND THE BELLS

As the distant bells ring, you're transported back to a different time and place, where you find joy in the simplest moments.

The adobe bell tower, porticos and cloisters have long beckoned home San Juan Capistrano's swallows from their annual migration each March, just in time for Saint Joseph's Day. The mission is a central part of our story, but so are its Spanish roots.

The Los Rios Street Historic District, within three minutes of our hotel, is California's oldest neighborhood, with three original adobe homes that housed the builders who constructed the Mission. The Tea House on Los Rios is a popular place to connect over tea and handmade scones.

The Mission San Juan Capistrano is the area's peaceful drawcard, both for visitors and thousands of cliff swallows. Dating back to 1776, the complex is a haven of ruins, rose gardens, palms and porticos.

Kids will love the Zoomars Petting Zoo, home to cute and cuddly farm animals, emus and llamas.

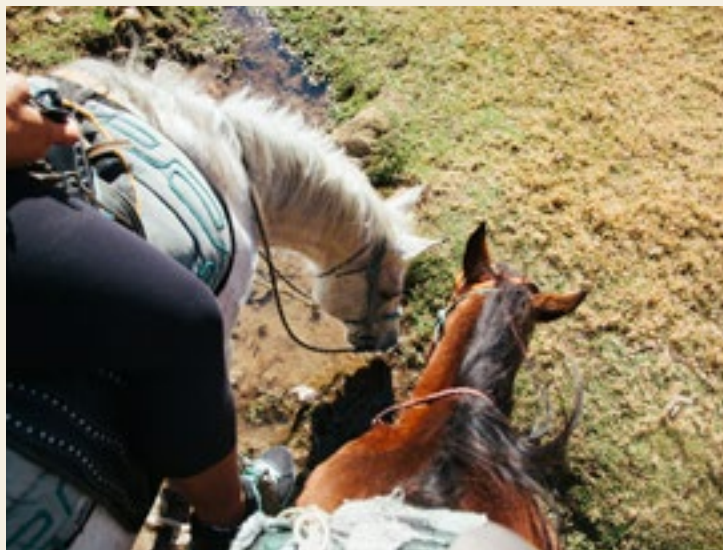

The El Camino Real Bell is one of a series of historic markers lining the El Camino Real, or the King's Highway. This road linked Franciscan missions from San Diego to Sonoma.

Discover the region's natural beauty on horseback. The area is renowned for its equestrian facilities for show jumping, but also the riding trails that weave through the foothills. We recommend the Ortega Equestrian Center, voted "Best in San Juan Capistrano" offering over 50 miles of trails.
