WINE BY BOTTLE

CHAMPAGNE

Champagne, like all wines is an experience for all of the senses - color, aroma, texture, flavor and in this case sound too. It's a sparkling wine produced from grapes grown in the Champagne region of France, following rules that demand among other things, secondary fermentation of wine in the bottle to create carbonation.

RED

CORVINA, RONDINELLA & MOLINARA

The traditional Valpolicella blend consists of three grape varieties: Corvina, Rondinella and Molinara. The first two are used in the highest proportion. Corvina, used as the main variety, gives its famous sour-cherry character, as well as body and structure, and Rondinella along with Molinara are added for backup creating a typically light-colored, medium-bodied wine with noticeable astringency on the palate.

Zonin, Amarone della Valpolicella DOC

Veneto, Italy

12,625

GRENAICHE, SYRAH, CINSAULT AND MOURVEDRE

It offers real grit and bite, usually displaying classic raspberry and strawberry flavors. Wine produced from these grapes is rich with finely balanced acidity. The proportions play a big role in the overall nature of the wine, but there are often certain leather and gamey notes imparted by Mourvedre and Cinsaut. Grenache, on the other hand, adds rich fruit characters.
