

Amman Climate

With its Eastern Mediterranean climate, Amman proves to be great holiday option all year round. Summers are hot, but bearable, with temperatures averaging a mild 26 degrees in July and August, while rain is non-existent.

Many people choose to head to Amman during springtime when Jordan is at its greenest and temperatures are perfect for sightseeing. And given its position in the Middle East, Amman also boasts pretty mild winters, although this is the wettest season so don't forget your jacket, just in case.
