BLOODY MARY

The Original Cocktail was invented by the famed barman Fernand Petiot at

The St. Regis New York in 1934. Fernand Petiot brought his signature Vodka and tomato juice cocktail from Paris's La Maisonette Russe to the new King Cole Bar at The St. Regis New York. Originally christened the "Bloody Mary". The cocktail was initially dubbed as the "Red Snapper", more than 80 years later, the iconic Bloody Mary remains the signature cocktail of The St. Regis brand.

AMERICAN WHISKEY

"I'm for anything that gets you through the night: be it prayer, tranquilizers, or a bottle of Jack Daniel's." – Frank Sinatra

American whiskey is the by-product of years of European migration into America, rebel ingenuity, and our ugly "Manifest Destiny" era. The winding story of a nation's favorite spirit has a place amongst the big moments in the very history of this nation. Rye whiskey and Bourbon were created out of a necessity of place and time. Eventually, they became the backbone of the Federal government's western expansion, and helped fuel a movement that would lead to Prohibition

A TIMELESS TOAST

Napoleon Bonaparte once proclaimed, "I drink champagne when I win, to celebrate... and I drink champagne when I lose, to console myself." St. Regis has long shared Bonaparte's passion for the iconic beverage, served with grandeur during our signature champagne sabering ceremony. 'The' Mrs. Astor, the matriarch of The St. Regis brand, would gather friends and family for a champagne toast at The St. Regis New York to mark the transition from day to evening.
